How to use:

Separate your hair into sections. Grab the first small section of your hair. Each section of hair should be about 1 inch thick.

Brush each section of hair with a regular brush before using the hot air brush to avoid knots.

Take your small handful of hair and place the hot air brush underneath it, near the roots.

Wrap your first section of hair around your hot air brush to curl it. Pull the brush outwards towards the ends of your hair, while slowly turning the brush inward. As you turn the brush inward, guide your hair so that it curls under and around the hot brush. Curl your hair with the hot air brush.

Roll the brush, with your hair curling around it, upward toward your roots. Once you reach your roots, hold the hot air brush in place for 10 seconds.

Finally, pull the brush outwards towards the ends of your hair, and let your curl fall from the hot air brush.

Add a spritz of flexible hold hairspray to each curl as you finish curling it.

Apply smoothing serum to your hair if you want to smooth out your curls. And you are finished.
