How to use it in short hair:

1. Wash hair and towel-dry hair gently and get drying with a hair dryer.
2. Comb it before straight. For volume, brush hair towards the ceiling and aim the air flow at the brush, or hang your hair upside down and aim your dryer at it, whilst brushing.
3. You can start straightening once the hair is thoroughly dry.
4. For added volume when straightening short hair. Hold the ends of your hair towards the ceiling and clamp with the straighteners. Depending on the style of hair, the top layer may only be required (and the only layer safely possible!)
5. For slightly longer short hair. Clip top layers up and work from the bottom, curling under if that is the look you want (as short hair tends to flick out if it rests on your shoulders). To avoid too much flicking out if you want a poker straight look, straighten hair upside down and keep brushing out until it cools, otherwise when you stand up again it will cool to the shape of your shoulders.
6. Give a spray of hair spray, and you're finished!
