How to get curls using a curling iron:

Before styling, make your hair clean and dry, use a heat protection spray to keep hair from burning.

1. Blow dry hair straight, starting at the roots to get extra volume. Blow cold air at the roots to add volume.
2. Separate hair into several sections, as it's a easier way to curl hair through each section.
3. Apply texturizing spray for a section of hair, then take a 1-inch portion of hair and wrap hair around the barrel of the curling tongs.

To avoid crimp mark, you should make sure to leave ends loose when curling.

4. Release the curl after about 10 seconds (hold longer if you want a tighter curl).
5. Alternate the direction of the curl as you work your way through each section. This way makes curls look more natural.

Some curls can remain tight, while some look loose.

6. Once pinned curls have cooled, release them, use you finger to seperate curl.
7. After finish, to add shine or spritz a hair serum for more better result.
